2018 Congressional Voting Record

THE 115TH CONGRESS, 2ND SESSION: PARTISANSHIP REIGNS IN TRUMP ERA

Donald Trump has stumped a lot of politicians from both sides of the aisles as our elected officials try to figure out a way to move forward on issues that are important to the American people. The president's rhetoric is not only extremely divisive, but has forced Congressional Republicans to play to whichever whimsical position he seems to be taking at the moment. They did this while also trying to protect their majorities during the 2018 midterm elections that were viewed as a referendum on Donald Trump.

In the House of Representatives, there have been a number of attempts to roll back important programs that were passed during the Obama Administration. There were efforts to limit the role of the Consumer Financial Protection Bureau, for instance, and ease regulations of community banks that helped ensure these smaller banks wouldn't fail and have a devastating impact on their customers.

Sticking to the theme of winning political points by inspiring the extreme right flank of the Republican Party, the Republicans promoted legislation that would have severely limited the public's access to affordable, quality healthcare by weakening the Affordable Care Act. Not only did they try to harm the ability of the working class to get healthcare, but they wanted to make tax breaks for millionaires and billionaires permanent instead of investing in key programs millions of Americans depend on.

Mitch McConnell has taken it a step forward in the Senate and made it a mission to stall any meaningful legislation and prevented many critical bills from even receiving a vote on the Senate floor. He has, however, fast tracked almost any nomination Donald Trump put forward for cabinet officials and members of the federal court -- including that of Brett Kavanaugh after the FBI was denied enough time to conduct a proper investigation into the sexual assault allegations against him. As a result, it was difficult to pick out the crucial nomination votes and combine that with a diverse section of votes on other important issues.

Moving forward, ADA is working to ensure the general public actually has its interests represented in Congress. We strongly believe it's not acceptable for Sen. McConnell to continue denying legislation an up or down vote and are actively participating in grassroots campaigns to help spur Congress into action.

KEY TO VOTING RECORD

- I Ineligible voter/ not in office
- * Deceased

This voting record is offered only as a guide in judging the legislative performance of Members of Congress, and has several inherent limitations. It does not measure a legislator's work in committees. It does not reflect the failure of Congress to deal with major issues, or the individual's degree of responsibility. Nor does it reflect a legislator's lifetime of work.

The methodology of the ADA Voting Record calls for Members who miss a vote, for whatever reason, to be penalized in their final score. Therefore, a Member who agreed with ADA's position on 19 votes but was absent on the 20th would receive a score of 95%.
